

MAY-JUNE 2000 $5.50

VERANDA

BOY OVERBOARD

Romo's "Snap" fabric provides a colorful backdrop for Seabrook Classics' "Pelican" headboard draped with Donghia's "Ali-Gator" fabric. Adirondack-style chair and table from KLR Designs hold lamp from Independent Vision, musical "Eliot" doll from the Xenis Collection and nautical music box from Reuge Music. below: Liberty's "Fish and Ships," Donghia's playful "Go Fish" trim and "Mariner" rug from Sarah Gayle Carter.

BOY OVERBOARD

Perhaps it has something to do with the countless childhood songs that pay homage to the sea, but children never tire of themes from the watery world. From sailboats and lighthouses to mermaids and alligators, there are numerous designs to please a budding mariner or underwater explorer. Boys who enjoy seashore summers will delight in Seabrook Classics' "Pelican" bed, featuring birds perched atop the headboard. Located near Beaufort, South Carolina, Seabrook takes pride in its coastal locale between Charleston and Savannah by creating furniture that reflects Low Country styling and themes. While many of its products are traditional reproductions, it also creates casual entertainment centers and nightstands with doors made from plantation shutters.

The Adirondack chair has been a classic at cabins and mountainside resorts for decades. Now KLR Designs gives it a nautical feel with sailboats, palm trees and dolphins carved on its chair backs. Painted in vibrant colors ranging from cranberry to periwinkle blue, the line is available in adult and children's sizes.

Seafarers—young or old—appreciate accessories with